

2017年度 茨城キリスト教大学入学試験問題

英語 (A日程)

(解答は解答用紙に記入すること)

I 次の英文を読み、下の【設問1】～【設問3】に答えなさい。

While on vacation, not everyone likes staying at nice hotels, visiting museums, or shopping at department stores. Some would rather jump out of an airplane, speed down a river, or stay in a [tradition : ①] village. They're part of a growing number of people who enjoy adventure tourism. It's a style of travel for people [look : ②] to get more out of their vacations.

With the Internet, it's easier than ever to set up an adventure tour. People can plan trips themselves, or they can find a [suit : ③] tour company online. Some popular countries to visit are Costa Rica, India, New Zealand, and Botswana. Their natural settings make them perfect for outdoor activities like hiking and diving. Rich (あ) wildlife, they're also great for bird watching and safaris.

Learning about the local history and culture is also popular (い) adventure travelers. In Peru, people love visiting the ruins of Machu Picchu. Travelers in Tanzania enjoy meeting local tribes. In some countries, it's even possible to live and work in a village during a vacation. While building houses and helping research teams, travelers can enjoy local food and learn about the culture.

There are adventure tours for people (う) every age and experience level. Trips can include walking in beautiful valleys or climbing the world's tallest mountains. Some tours are designed (え) women, and others have families in mind. During easy trips, tourists may do everything on [they : ④] own. On more difficult trips, like hiking in the Himalayas, they can hire guides.

Besides being a lot of fun for travelers, these [excite : ⑤] trips mean big money for local economies. Tourism is already the world's largest industry, worth some $3 trillion. Of that, adventure tourism makes (お) about 20% of the market. That number is growing, as more and more people are planning thrilling vacations in their own countries and abroad.
