英 語 (1 期)

(解答は解答用紙に記入すること)

I 次の英文を読み、(問 1) ～ (問 5) に答えなさい。

〈1〉 It is often said that the English are “reserved”. We don’t talk to each other (①) tube trains, or even make eye contact. The theory is that people are not (A), we just place great importance on the privacy of others, so we don’t start talking to them in case they are deep (②) thought. (Now I come to think of it, it sometimes annoyed me when Americans would start a conversation while I was trying to read a book.)

〈2〉 (B), once the English can see a clear reason to talk to you or to offer help, they are very quick to act. Recently I read that the OECD had rated Britain as one (③) the top five countries in terms of “pro-social behaviour” (helpfulness, basically). One newspaper despatched reporters to test (a) this theory, getting a young woman to pretend to struggle (C) a heavy suitcase (④) the bottom of a steep set of steps for example. People of all sorts tried to help, some of them running (D) despite being headed in the other direction.

〈3〉 If I had read that before my accident, I would probably have cynically assumed that the undercover reporters were helped because they were (E) young women. But (⑤) my own experience I know that people were also desperate to help me. That accident helped me realise that behind the often grumpy appearance of the English, they are secretly very (b) _____.

注

pro-social behaviour : 向社会的行動 OECD : 経済協力開発機構 despatch = dispatch
cynically : 皮肉っぽく undercover : 秘密で行う realise = realize grumpy : 気難しい

Ⅱ 以下のEメールを読み、(問1)～(問5)に答えなさい。

New Message
To: Alice
Subject: school festival shopping
Hello, Alice, I am sorry you could not come to the group meeting this week. I hope you feel better today. Our group decided that we will make pancakes at the school festival. You and I were asked to buy the ingredients for the pancakes. We need to decide when to go shopping for our pancake ingredients. How would this Sunday afternoon be? As you know, I have my part-time job on the day before. Since I had a package of pancake mix at home, I looked at the package to see what we should buy. I put the information we need below. We are planning to make enough pancakes for 300 people. We hope we can sell that many. Each bag of pancake mix has four packages in it. To make each package of pancakes, we need 100ml of milk and one medium egg and there are 10 eggs in each carton. We will make four pancakes from each package. We will sell two pancakes to each person who wants them. So, we will need at least 38 bags of mix. However, there are always accidents, so we may need some extra. We should also buy two extra bags of pancake mix, an extra liter of milk, and an extra carton of ten eggs. We can eat whatever is left over. We will also need to buy strawberries and syrup. Each pair of pancakes will have three strawberries and 10ml of syrup. There are 15 strawberries in each package. We can buy just one extra package of strawberries. We might need to get the paper plates also, if the others can't find them in their local shop. Please tell me what time and where we should meet this weekend. Thanks, and see you soon, Alfredo
